

WOMEN IN DATA SCIENCE CHARLOTTESVILLE

► Friday, March 31, 2023
9 AM to 5 PM

University of Virginia
Zehmer Hall

Women in Data Science Charlottesville (WiDS)

is an independent event that is organized by the University of Virginia School of Data Science as part of the annual WiDS Worldwide Conference. This year's event focuses on inspiring the next generation of women in data science and will feature women doing outstanding work in the field of data science. WiDS Charlottesville 2023 will be held in person at the University of Virginia with Livestream options. All genders are invited to attend the conference.

▲
Mona Chalabi, Keynote

Data Journalist, Writer and Illustrator

◀ Register